Designers around the state share their top new picks for warming up rooms

Natural leather chair and ottoman by Henredon. "These pieces feature aniline-dyed leather in lustrous tones." Cathy Browne, Hank's & More, West Little Rock

Regency display cabinet by Kindel Furniture Company. "I love the exquisite finish details and elegant proportions, which would make it a statement piece in any location." Kaki Hockersmith, ASID, Kaki Hockersmith Interiors, Little Rock

Melbourne sofa by Rowe Fine Furniture. "It's a great transitional piece, mixing traditional lines with contemporary flair." Tamara Criswell, Cleo's Furniture, West Little Rock

Monroe chair from I.O. Metro. "With its charcoal velvet fabric, this chair could be used in a modern setting or to update a traditional room." Lee Anne Stelte, I.O. Metro, Fayetteville

Trebbiano coffee table by Thomasville. "With a 52-inch round top, the scale would work well in large room." Linda Flint, Gary Thorson's Furniture, Hot Springs

Denizen cabinet by Coalesse. "This flexible line of components accommodates an electronic lifestyle—TV and media, computer and closed storage, all in one sculptural piece." Julie Wait Fryauf, ASID, Julie Wait Designs, Rogers

Wing chair by Henredon. "The exaggerated back and wings offer support, and an extra deep seat makes it even more comfortable." Debbie White, White Furniture, Benton
